NO CHANGE MADE IN LICENSE LIST FOR WASHINGTON COUNTY

Emery Refused a Wholesale Privilege at Millsboro

HAYDEN LOSES AT FINLEYVILLE

According to an opinion handed down late Tuesday afternoon by Judge McIlvaine, there will be no change in the number of liquor licenses in Washington county this year. The application of James E. Hayden for a retail license at Finleyville and E. Fred Emery for a whole sale license at Millsboro were refused. All other applicants, including the eight breweries, are granted renewal of their licenses for the year beginning May 1, conditioned however on compliance with the federal law, t he war measure which makes the county dry after June 30 of this year. There are 33 retail licenses in the county, and eight breweries which have been granted the privilege of selling what product they have on hand. Under a federal act they are not allowed to brew, but can dispose of stock of beer on hand.

In refusing the application of E. Fred Emery of Millsboro, the court holds it has no authority to grant the modified license asked; that is, to be given a wholesale license to dispose of the liquor he has on hands, his own manufactured when holding a distiller's license.

In refusing the license of Mr. Hayden at Finleyville, the court says it finds no reason for changing its ruling of a year ago, that there was need for only one licensed house there, and that the preference of the leading temperance people of that place was, if any license was granted that it be given to John J. Zwick rather than to Hayden.

FAREWELL TO REV. MR. BASTIAN

The Charleroi Ministerial Association held an enjoyable meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. The first chapter of the new book entitled "A Theological Application of the Sicial Gospel" was discussed by the President of the association, the Rev. T. D. Reese. His paper was commendable and many favorable comments were heard. At the close of the program a reception was held for the Rev. C. P. Bastian, and refreshments were served. The Rev. Mr. Bastian, who has recently resigned from his local work, expressed his appreciation of the rich fellowship and friendship that has ever characterized the christian association and spoke feelingly of the breaking of such ties. The meeting closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

BUTTER AND EGGS STILL GOING DOWN

The downward trend of the butter and egg market in Pittsburg was forcefully illustrated Tuesday morning when Director of Supplies James F. Malone purchased for the various city institutioons first-grade Elgin creamery butter at 40 cents a pound, as against 67 1-2 cents a month ago. At the same time strictly fresh eggs were obtained by the director for 38 cents a dozen as compared with 62 cents paid a month ago.

GAS COMPANY IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

James Wesley Channing of California, has filed a suit for damages against the Greensboro Natural Gas Company in which he claims $1,000 with a credit of $172 on the same, which the company paid him.

The sum alleged due is for damage suffered by the plaintiff at his home in a gas explosion on December 28, 1917. In that explosion his household furnishings were damaged, a piano destroyed and other damage done. He and his family were compelled to be without fuel for several days, the weather being extremely cold. Water pipes were frozen and the water supply shut off. As a result of all this, he alleges, his family became ill and Mrs. Channing suffered a nervous shock. The company is charged with negligence.

The plaintiff says he complained to the company of escaping gas in the street in front of his house, but the agent assured him there was no danger. The gas continued to escape and additional complaint was made but again he was assured of no danger, shortly after which the explosion occurred. He now seeks damages.

Underground Wireless U. S. War Secret Which Helped Beat Hun

Underground wireless was one of Uncle Sam's new tricks and war secrets which helped beat the kaiser. The invention was perfected by James H. Rogers of Hyattsville, Md., at just about the time we entered the war. It was promptly offered to the government and quickly accepted. It sends and receives messages both under ground and water alike, and its value is that it eliminates static disturbances, common in the aerial wireless. Here is inventor Rogers, with his machine, which can be set up any place a wire can be stuck in the ground. He has picked up messages from Berlin, Paris and Rome.

Council Disposes of Monthly Business

A regular meeting of borough council was held Tuesday evening members except Messrs. Duvall and VanVoorhis being present.

J. T. Taylor, representing the Rochester Germanicide company, was present, and made a proposition to the council to provide disinfectants for the new borough building. It was decided to take the matter up later.

The architect reported some slight changes necessary in some of the floors in toilet rooms in thenew building, and a contract was awarded to the Charleroi Lumber company to make the changes at a contract price of $105. The Charleroi Iron Works was also awarded a contract to place some iron railing on the second floor near the stairway; also for changes to one of the cell doors.

The borough clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for window shades for the new building.

Complaints having been made to council about the practice of dumping cleanings from thecatch basins on the street, the streetcommissioner was directed to place all such refuse in a place where it would not annoy any of the residents.

The matter of moving the equipment of the street commissioner from the old borough building to the new building was discussed and the change ordered. Mr. Orange is to occupy the premises vacated by the borough.

The Water and Light committee reported on complaints in regard to street lights. It is said that too many of the street lights are outof commission too often and council directed thematter to be taken up with light company and conditions improved.

The borough treasurer made his report for December showing collections of $16,065.24 and a balancefrom last report of $3203.93; disbursements $17,343.87, leaving abalance of $1925.35. The Burgess reported fines of $133 and the tax collector $206.02 in collections.

Eggs are coming down, but the only thing broken is the price.

MONONGAHELA TO VOTE ON AN OPEN OR CLOSED SUNDAY

Election Day Fixed for Tuesday, the 18th of February

BOTH FORCES ARE LINING UP

Under a provision of its city charter Monongahela is going to have a referendum election on the 18th of February, to pass upon the approval or rejection of an ordinance adopted by the city council on the 16th day of last December, providing heavy penalties for violation of the Sunday laws.

When the adoption of the ordinance was announced there was a great protest on the part of those who persist in keeping their places of business open on Sunday and they succeeded in securing the necessary number of signatures to have the question referred to thequalified electors of the city to either approve or reject the m easure adopted by council.

This ordinance provides a fine from $10 to $25 for opening or assisting in keeping open any place of store where merchandise is sold, or for selling any merchandise on the first day of the week, commonly called the Sabbath. If the offender refuses to pay the fine then they are to be committed to thecity jail for a period of one day for each dollar of fine imposed.

The churches of the city are solidly backing the measure, while those who are merchandising on Sundays are lined up for the repeal of the ordinance. The election is now being advertised and a great deal of interest is being manifested as the time for the d ecision approaches. The element which is opposing the ordinance is not making much noise, evidently avoiding publicity, while on the other hand the supporters of the ordinance are making every effort to arouse the people of the city to the vote in favor of the measure.

In theway of keeping stores open, Monongahela isknown as a wide-open town.

WORK CEASES ON RAILROAD CONTRACT

Work on the railroad embankment at Brownsville has been stopped for the present, and the contractors have paid off most of their men. The contractors are silent as to the reason for stoppage of the work, except to state that work of this character usually slowed up during the winter period, as owing to weather conditions itis usually more costly and the work is less satisfactory when completed. It is said that work will be resumed when spring weather arrives.

The Alpha Phi Beta fraternity, which during the war provided a tobacco fund from which purchases were made for the boys in service has closed its account and made a statement to the members. According to the statement given by the treasurer the following were the receipts and expenditures:

Amount collected from time to time	$193.04
Sale of tobacco on hand which was not shipped over	66.80
Total	$259.84

Expenditures

28TH IS NOT ON THE PRIORITY LIST

Information from Washington City says that the Twenty-eighth Division now a part of the Army of Occupation in Germany, will not comehome before the treaty of peace has been signed. Reports were circulated a few days ago, saying the Division expected to sail from France about the 15th of February, this information being contained in letters from soldiers now serving with the Pennsylvanians in Germany. This official word from the capital seems to dispose of the report that the Division would soon be on the way home. Under present circumstances it is likely to be midsummer before the old N. G. P. is back in the United States.

A BOOMERANG

In the very early days of the war, Dean Edwin F. Gay of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, recognizing the inevitability of more or less price-fixing during the public emergency with the country confronted, at the same time called attention to the very serious complications which were likely to follow as a result of it. Of a truth, the likelihood which he then foresaw has since been translated into the realm of actuality. We refer not alone to the many difficulties which price-fixing encountered by the way while the war was still on, but more especially to the anomalies consequent upon it, which have come into bold relief since the signature of the armistice.

In particular are these anomalies rampant today with respect to certain important foodstuffs, such as grain and pork. The prices fixed for them by the Government during the war had the chief intent of encouraging production, by holding out to producers a guaranty that their products—even when largely increased in volume—would be sure to command the profitable price promised them upon the pledge of the Government. If they were minimum prices for the benefit of producers, the Government nevertheless, desired them to be, in so far as possible, maximum prices for the benefit of the consumers. At any rate claims did not fail to appear during the war, in respect to wheat for example that if the Government had not undertaken to regulate prices the people would have been required to pay a far higher price for bread than was actually allowed to be current. And there always seemed to exist for the consumers the hope that an increase of production would mean in the end a decrease in prices. And this it surely does mean when the natural economic laws of supply and demand are allowed to take their free course.

What, however, has been the present result of the Government's price-fixing policy? Beyond question the campaign to increase production has attained great success. The meat division of the Food Administration, for instance admits there is a large surplus of hogs being offered at the country's markets. Wheat appears to be in more abundant supply. Not only has there been this vast production, but it is also a fact today that the approach of peace has very largely reduced the demand for wheat for foreign export. And yet—and this is the great "yet"—the Government has not seen its way to allow any general reduction of prices. On account of its pledges to the producers it has felt itself bound to maintain the minimum prices guaranteed under war conditions. The very price fixing which may have been hailed as a benefit to the consumer has now come back upon them as a boomerang, imposing at a time when one of the great needs of the day is an early reduction in the cost of living and at a time when the resources of the country, untrammeled by regulation, would normally make reduction possible, a continuation of the rigorous price-scales of war time.

THE TAX LEVY

The Washington Observer in speaking of the tax levy made by the commissioners on Monday, and which will prevail for the coming year, thus comments on what it calls a very gratifying situation:

It is most gratifying to the citizens and taxpayers of Washington county to know that there will be no increased taxation this year for county purposes, especially when everything which enters into the cost of living has gone up and is still at a high point.

If the commissioners had followed the plan adopted by some previous boards they might have lowered the tax levy, but for the first time perhaps in ten years the county will be able to take care of the expenses falling due from this time until the next payment of taxes. Not for many years has the cash balance on hand at the close of a fiscal year been as large as it was when the books were closed last year and this in spite of the fact that the expenses of doing business were greater than they have ever been in the history of the county.

Under the budget the commissioners will be able during the next year, if the same economical management is continued, to not only meet every expense to be incurred, but to have a surplus of $25,000 out of which the commissioners have appropriated $10,000 for the proposed new work house to be erected in a district composed of Washington and other western counties.

When it is considered that the estimate for the coming year's expenses is based on the same valuation which existed for the past four years or practically so, and there is likely to be at least a small advance in valuations, the commissioners are very conservative in setting the levy at 4 3-4 mills.

Some years ago members of the board of commissioners reduced the tax levy below conservative and good business necessities in order to play politics, making the taxpayers believe that they had actually made a reduction, when they were only piling up a deficit for future boards to meet. And succeeding boards kept on passing the buck to their successors.

The present board, however, is not passing the buck to their successors, but have during their term made up this deficit by maintaining the millage where it ought to be and today finds the county in the best financial condition that it has been in the past ten years.

We believe, however, that it will be possible within a year or perhaps two years, if the same careful economic management of our county affairs is continued for the commissioners to put aside $100,000 or perhaps more each year for the building of permanent roads without adding an additional millage.

We do want to get away, as soon as possible, from the continued paying of large sums in interest on bonds which represent public improvements which no longer exist. And we believe that the next board of commissioners, if they are economical and careful in the county expenditures, will be able to do away with the policy of issuing bonds each year for roads and secure the same number of mules each year on the same millage as we have now, thus placing no large burden on future generations to pay.

It is not right for those who come after us to pay for improvements which do not outlast the use of the present generation. And many of our roads are not even doing this.

Pulse in Animals.

The normal pulse beats per minute in the domestic animals are as follows. Horses, 36 to 42; cattle, 38 to 50; sheep, goats and hogs, 70 to 80; and dogs, 80 to 100. The pulse beats faster in young than in old animals. Excitement and a nervous temperament may cause a more rapid pulse. When exercising and immediately after, the rate is higher than when the animal is at rest.

Tall Trees.

The tallest of California's "big trees" is three hundred and twenty-five feet in height, but among the great gum trees of Australia not to mention British Columbia's great firs, many specimens are more than four hundred feet in height, and one, which was felled in southeast Australia measured four hundred and seventy-one feet—the tallest tree on record.

Special Clothes for Motorists.

It was in 1900 that a well-known tailor in Chicago introduced specially designed clothing for motorists. His announcement read in part as follows: "We can furnish a leather chauffeur's suit jacket, trousers, cap and goggles complete in any color found in kid gloves at $50 the outfit."

SPOILED BIG WEDDING FEAST

How Ex-German Emperor Upset Dinner on Which Herr Ballin Had Spent Much Money.

Herr Ballin was noted for the extravagant dinners which he gave on great occasions, says the Edinburgh Scotsman. Probably the most magnificent of all was that which he arranged to grace the wedding of the kaiser's daughter to the duke of Brunswick. The floral decorations alone cost $10,000, the dinner worked out at about $5 a plate, and the wines at about $20. But the dinner, from Herr Ballin's point of view, was a failure, for the kaiser and kaiserin, who were to have been present, sent word in the afternoon that they could not come; and it was in their honor, of course, that Herr Ballin had spent his thousands on the banquet. One of his servants has said that when Herr Ballin received the message that the emperor could not come, he flew into a tremendous rage. He sent for his butler, and ere the man had reached Herr Ballin's study his master shouted out to him: "The emperor cannot come to dinner tonight—put the whole show off!" and then slammed the door. The butler did not know exactly what to do. To put off so important guests as were to be present was, of course, an impossibility; but no one in the household dared to approach the master of it to suggest this. However, at about 5 o'clock Herr Ballin had sufficiently recovered his temper to come downstairs and give some necessary directions about the banquet.

MULE OF PECULIAR COLOR

Driver Explained With Patience Just How the Animal's Strange Appearance Was Brought About.

Two mules, drawing an army service wagon, caused a sensation in Knightsbridge a short time ago. One mule was poor but honest in appearance, brown in color; the other was a delicate shade of green. The green mule was solemnly unconscious of the attention he was attracting. "Effects of war oats?" asked a facetious United States soldier. A workman rubbed his eyes and then muttered, "camouflage." The A. S. C. driver looked thoroughly ashamed of the turnout. He stopped to pick up a crate. "What is the matter with your pony?" asked a mild man. "I am tired of being asked it, and it isn't a pony," replied the driver. "It is all through the chemical. Goodness knows what color it will be tomorrow. Its coat was very light once, and the other mules used to kick it. We washed it in some chemical dye to make it darker. The sergeant can't remember the name of the dye, and now that it is wearing off, it is a different color each day. You are the last person I shall explain it to." He drove off furiously—a khaki driver on a slate-gray lorry drawn by one honest brown mule and one shameless mule of an esthetic shade of green.—London Mail.

Women as Secretaries.

Since Mr. Lloyd George made the innovation of appointing a woman secretary, the example of the prime minister has been followed by some of his colleagues in the cabinet. One of the three private secretaries to Mr. Bonar Law, the chancellor of the exchequer, having left recently to become deputy chairman of the board of inland revenue, the chancellor has decided to economize man power and at the same time give formal recognition of women's growing efficiency by making Miss E. M. Watson one of his private secretaries. These appointments of women civil servants to confidential posts in the entourage of the members of the British cabinet are highly popular among women workers generally who appreciate the honor thus done to their sex.

Yellow Fever Mastered.

Reports from Ecuador indicate that Doctor Noguchi, the famous Japanese scientist, who is at present in that country has isolated the bacillus which causes yellow fever, and has prepared an anti-serum conferring immunity on those exposed to the disease. The discovery is being tried out on Ecuadoran troops in the fevery interior.

The conquest of yellow fever is one of the important achievements. In the Canal zone the first steps were taken; the fever was banished by sanitation. But proper sanitation is an extensive process and is impracticable in sparsely settled regions. So Doctor Noguchi's discovery comes to give a needful coup de grace to the old villain, yellow fever.

The Boche was a typical wide foreheaded Boche, with big horn-rimmed spectacles and a lager rotundity. It was possibly that rotundity which had prevented him getting away with the others when the British troops scared off the German party that was trying to cut their wire. He was a valuable prisoner, too, for he spoke English like a native. He had been, he told them, a professor of German in England for many years.—Capt. R. F. W. Rees.

Presents Pitiful Spectacle.

The return to France of the women, children and old men who were sent out of that part of France which was occupied by Germans for more than four years presented pitiful spectacles. Many of these refugees were little tots whose fathers and mothers had been taken away by the cruel Boche to work in Germany or behind the fighting lines. Others were orphans.

UNUSED MUNITIONS BROUGHT WAR'S END

GERMAN STAFF KNEW OUR PRODUCTION AND GAVE UP, SAYS FRANKLIN.

Cleveland.—The war supplies that have been delivered and must be paid for but never used were what actually brought the war to the sudden end so much earlier than had been expected, according to Lewis B. Franklin, director of the war loan organization for the United States.

LEWIS B. FRANKLIN.
War Loan Director.

"Those are the things for which we are going to pay with the Fifth—and last—Liberty Loan," Mr. Franklin explained at a meeting of Liberty Loan county chairmen in this city.

"That is what I mean when I say that this money you are going to raise—through the things already bought with the credit of it—is paying for the saving of a half a million American lives.

"The speed and bravery of the American 'dough-boy' affected the German on the front line more than it did the men at German general headquarters; but the fact that America had ten tons of mustard gas ready for shipment in 1919, to every ton that Germany had, the fact that we were going to have a tank on the front line for every 75 feet of the line in 1919; the fact that we would have thousands of batteries of guns where we did not have a single one in 1918—those facts had an influence on the German General Staff.

"And, far from that money, those millions and billions of dollars wasted in an unnecessary preparation, I feel that the fact that the money was spent and that that enormous output of munitions was ready, was the controlling factor in the weakening of the German General Staff, and that it caused their message to the Kaiser that they were beaten and that he must sue for peace. And the way I see it is that this money, instead of being wasted, can be written down as having saved the lives of hundreds of thousands of American men who would have been sacrificed had the war continued another year.

"I do not believe that we are going to be troubled with this loan. I look for at least 20,000,000 subscribers to the next loan.

"We must let the people of the United States know why there is a Fifth Loan, what the money went for, what it did—and that is the most important part of it, what it did. We must tell them that it brought back two or three or four or five hundred thousand safe, live American boys, instead of having them buried in France. And I cannot conceive of the American people failing to respond to that kind of an appeal."

Maddened with pity, to the stranger faces
That whitely pass us, needing us so much!

A nation's homage and a nation's help,
And all its grateful hearts, your eager friends!

M'KEES ROCKS MAN HAD BEEN SUFFERER

W. Price, well known Painter and Decocator, was Relieved by Ten-Herbs

No new article of the times has created such profound interest, especially in the larger cities, as has the introduction of Ten-Herbs, t he famous stomach remedy. People in all walks of life have been attracted to it; the statesman, the professional man, mechanic, financier, brakeman, society woman. waitress—they all have tested it and permitted the use of their names in telling of it.

Every day people are coming forward with unqualified statements as to the great benefit they have received from the use of Ten-Herbs.

Recently. the following testimonial was given by Mr. W. Price, one of the best known painters and decorators in McKees Rocks, who resides at No. 300 Chartiers avenue and has a wide acquaintance in that city. He said:

"For several years past I have been troubled with my stomach; I was bloated with gas, could not digest my food and my limbs were stiff and sore; m y liver was sluggish and I felt drowsy and sleepy during theday. but could not sleep at night. I was very nervous and felt completexly run down. I was told I had catarrh of thestomach and needed something to build me up. I had tried a number of different medicines but never got anything to relieve me until I began to take your Ten-Herbs. Now I am improved in every way; I sleep well and have a fine appetite I am glad to endorse Ten-Herbs."

Ten-Herbs cleanses, strengthens and revitalizes the whole system. It clears the blood of poisons and impurities, puts the lazy liver to work, regulates the bowels, tones up the digestive organs and strengthens the kidneys.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

VICTORY LOAN TO PAY FOR LIVES SAVED

WAR LOAN DIRECTOR LEWIS B. FRANKLIN EXPLAINS WHY FIFTH LOAN IS NEEDED.

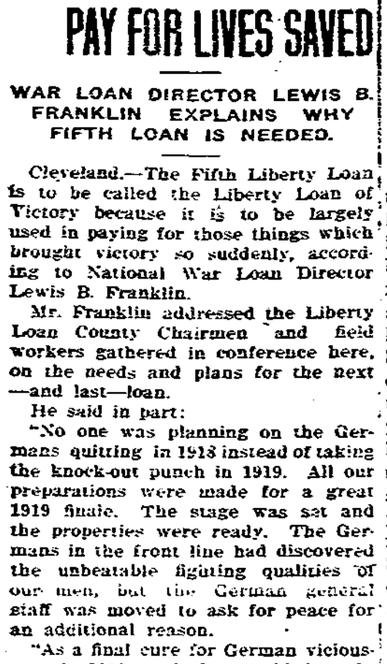
Cleveland.—The Fifth Liberty Loan is to be called the Liberty Loan of Victory because it is to be largely used in paying for those things which brought victory so suddenly, according to National War Loan Director Lewis B. Franklin.

Mr. Franklin addressed the Liberty Loan County Chairmen and field workers gathered in conference here, on the needs and plans for the next —and last—loan.

He said in part:

"No one was planning on the Germans quitting in 1918 instead of taking the knock-out punch in 1919. All our preparations were made for a great 1919 finale. The stage was set and the properties were ready. The Germans in the front line had discovered the unbeatable fighting qualities of our men, but the German general staff was moved to ask for peace for an additional reason.

"As a final cure for German viciousness in 1919 we had assembled ready for the coming campaign more than ten tons of gas for every ton the Germans could make; a tank for every 75 feet of fighting front; batteries by the thousands, where we had but one before; aeroplanes in the same proportion, and millions more men ready to start for Berlin. But this cure that had been mixed with the pestle of determination in the mortar of American industry became prevention.



LEWIS B. FRANKLIN,
War Loan Director.

"The German general staff knew more about this cure than the American officers. The magnitude of the dose, with the proved ability of the men who were to administer it, decided the German staff that it was quitting time.

"By ending the war in November, 1918, instead of in 1919, more than a half million American lives were saved. The coming Victory Loan is to pay for saving these lives and the fact that the bill will be heavy is because the pound of cure became a pound of prevention, instead of an ounce."

AMERICAN PEOPLE GROWING THRIFTY

SAVINGS DEPOSITS INCREASE FORTY PER CENT IN MIDDLE WEST.

THE so-called "middle west" — this district extending from a thin "Eastern" strip through to the Mississippi —saved in the past year 39.3 per cent more dollars than it did in 1914—the last "normal" year.

Figures on savings and invsetments given in the bulletin just published by the American Institute of Banking make some interesting revelations.

For instance, the South, usually considered and spoken of as careless, at least, in regard to thrift, increased its savings 44.9 per cent—more than twice as much as did New England—the accredited home of such things. The per capita savings of the country as a whole had increased from $89.11 in 1914 to $113.45 at the close of 1918, which means a nation at least 27.3 more thrifty.

The force of these figures, however, is lost unless there is considered in conjunction with them the tremendous amounts of money which the people of the country have put into Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps That means that they have done much more than the Bank figures show.

Early in America's days of war, before the country grew accustomed to thinking of the masses of its people being able to absorb billions in government loans, there was a general acceptance of the idea that the Liberty Loan campaigns would strip bare the savings banks and that it would take a considerable time to replenish them. Instead of that here comes the announcement of their increased deposits.

Assisting Heredity.

A man's instincts, intuitions, sensations and perceptions, and especially his habits, are changed, improved and made to overcome his hereditary tendencies by the proper training of the muscles. With the impressions shot into the other senses, mentally and physically, impressions of the corrective, helpful, improving sort, there is no reason in the world why the hereditary nature of certain weak or unstable individuals cannot be aided and lifted out of their possibly unhappy state.

Fellow-Feeling.

As a well-known Scottish divine was entering a car he noticed that some of the passengers were trying to eject a drunken man. The minister promptly interposed in his behalf and soothed him into respectability for the rest of his journey. Before leaving, however, the disturber again muttered angry words to the other passengers; then, seizing the reverend doctor's hands, he exclaimed: "Good day my fren'; I see you ken what it is to be drunk!"

New Note in Street Music.

A new note in street music is struck in the Strand, where a performer on a piano-organ exhibits a placard stating that he is an ex-convict who has done four years. There are also statements as to police supervision and the instrumentalist's desire to do well; and, as a guarantee of good faith, the placard concludes with the address of his firm of solicitors and of his medical attendant.—London Chronicle.

Use Your Knowledge.

It is a self-evident fact that the people who know the most do not always accomplish the most. And that is because many do not know how to use their knowledge. It is like gold buried in the ground instead of being invested and bearing a good interest. Do not trust for your success to knowing things, for it depends instead on your knowing how to use what you know.

Signs of Mourning.

In Italy the women wear white garments to show their grief, and the men clothes of brown hue. In China white is used for mourning by both sexes. In Turkey, Syria, Cappadocia and Armenia celestial blue is the usual tint. In Egypt yellowish brown, the hue of the dead leaf, is deemed proper; and in Ethiopia the natives wear gray as the emblem of mourning.

Stone for Rosaries.

The rosaries sold at Kandahar are extensively manufactured from soft, crystalized silicate of magnesia. This is quarried from a hill about thirty miles northwest of the city, where soapstone and antimony are also obtained in considerable abundance. The stone varies in color from a light yellow to a bluish white, and is generally opaque.

Chinese as Rice Growers.

The Chinese introduced rice culture to Hawaii, and they are still the chief rice growers of the islands. They first planted sugar cane at the "Crossroads of the Pacific" and manufactured sugar, and when the Hawaiians began to cease the cultivation of taro it was the Chinese who became the taro planters.

Vital Statistics of Japan.

According to statistics recently published the population of Japan proper on December 31, 1917, was 57,998,373, distributed among 10,241,851 dwellings or 5.7 per cent habitation. Compared with the census of 1916, a growth in population of 799,096 is seen. This rate of increase exceeds 14 per cent.

Removing Paint From Glass.

Ordinary commercial ammonia is a quite efficient remover of paint, especially from glass. Apply with a cloth swab. Within 15 or 20 minutes the paint will be so softened that it may easily be rubbed off with a putty-knife or a coarse fabric.

Two Bites and a Sup.

While many of our familiar comparisons have been scrapped by modern conditions, new comparisons are taking their places—for example: "As quickly over as a movie meal."—Boston Transcript.

Fact and Fancy.

Said the facetious observer: "One of the principal differences between the frugal woman and the fat one is that one tries to reduce expenses and the other expanses."

"Envy," said Uncle Eben, "is one of de unpleasant symptoms 'sperienced by folks dat has been tryin' to git somethin' foh nothin'."

It Depends.

Whether a woman is good-looking depends largely on whether you are speaking of her face or to her face.—Wilmington News.

Scrappy Pair.

"I was single, and had a dog's life," said the widower. "I married and had a cat and dog's."—Exchange.
